Dr. Gerard Brown. D.D.S.
December 8, 1921-December 9, 1998

Personal challenges and social injustice caused young Gerard Brown to remember his grandmother's enduring words of encouragement: "...remain strong and independent, extremely disciplined, and life will have much to offer to those who choose to study, work hard and embrace with zest and commitment the opportunities that present themselves." His grandmother had become an important surrogate for him and his sister after the death of their mother when Gerard was four years old.

He used his intellect and personal courage to forge a personal path to success with joint undergraduate majors in biology and chemistry. After earning degrees in dentistry and maxillofacial surgery, he opened a practice in Washington, D.C. Later, he joined the U.S. Air Force in 1951 and retired as a Lieutenant Colonel after 20 years of service.

His mantra, "...education first, education always...the way to personal advancement and a better life..." helped him to remain open to the new opportunities he would encounter—such as participating in the Montgomery Bus Boycott with Dr. Martin Luther King. This experience solidified Dr. Brown's commitment to the improvement of society through education and non-violent reform of social injustices.

With this commitment to community in mind, he came to Victorville as an oral surgeon, the first African-American oral surgeon in Victorville. The first of many "firsts" would include his being the first African American elected official when he won election to the Victor Valley Union High School Board. He also would be the first African American to be appointed to the San Bernardino Fair Board. With an active dental practice and a growing family, he still found time to serve as Foreman of the San Bernardino Grand Jury, a member of the Daily Press Editorial Board, Rotary Club of Victor Valley, Toastmasters, Desert Community United Way and the NAACP.

Dr. Brown remained devoted to his family and to the entire community until his death. One of his favorite projects, however, was the Read to Me Program of the Victor Valley Chamber of Commerce because it embodied his mantra for the entire community: "...education first, education always...the way to personal advancement and a better life."
